

G.O.P. CONVENTION READY FOR KEY-NOTE SPEECH

WASHINGTON GIRL FOUND IN CHICAGO

Ran Away Fearing Parental Anger She States

Chicago, June 9.—(AP)—Pretty Dorothy Blumenshine, 14-year-old school girl, object of a widespread search last Sunday by 500 volunteers who feared she might have been slain, was found today by a Chicago Daily Times reporter.

Missing from her home for nine days, the daughter of Dr. Emil Blumenshine, a veterinarian of Washington, Ill., told the newspaper she came to Chicago "on an impulse" because she "wanted to go to work."

In a copyright story, the paper said the girl had obtained a job as a housemaid and had expected to go to work today.

She explained she had been on a party with another girl and five boys and that her first highball "went to her head." After she was revived and returned to her home she feared parental reprimand and suddenly decided to come to Chicago.

Trained to Highway
A belief that Dorothy possibly had come to Chicago was expressed by officials of Tazewell county, in which Washington, a city of 1,700 population 150 miles southwest of here, is situated, after bloodhounds had tracked her from her home to a Peoria-Chicago highway two blocks distant. There the trial stopped.

Dorothy said she obtained a job as waitress the morning she arrived.

The girl disappeared from the door of her home a week ago Sunday morning, after having been returned there by five youths and another girl from a dance at a nearby resort town. The youths were taken into custody on warrants sworn out by the girl's father, Dr. Emil Blumenshine, a veterinarian.

They were released after they told Dorothy becoming ill after a few drinks at a tavern near Mackinaw, Ill., and that they had revive her and taken her home.

Her story follows:

Her First Highballs
"That night I went out on that party down in Washington with Marie Jackson, 16, and Gilbert Eringer and my other chums. I drank two highballs. They were the first I ever had and they surely went to my head."

"It was after 1 o'clock when they took me home. Daddy had warned me about staying out late and of course he would be awfully mad about my having those two drinks, so after I had said good night to Gilbert and Marie and had started up the driveway to my house I began to feel afraid."

"I turned and walked back to the main highway. It's route 24, and it's the Peoria-Chicago road, you know."

"As I stood there an auto came along and pulled up beside me. There were two men in front and a woman in the rear seat. They wanted to know where I was going."

Acted on Impulse
"Just on the impulse, I said Chicago and I asked them for a lift. 'That's how I got to the city. They let me out of their car somewhere on the west side. I don't know just where because I haven't learned to tell the streets yet. 'Let's see, that was just about daybreak a week ago Sunday. I walked around until I came to a restaurant with a sign in the window, 'waitress wanted.' I went to work right away."

"But I didn't suit that restaurant man. He bawled me out for putting the coffee cups on the wrong side of the customers. And then customers didn't seem to care for the sort of service I gave them. I didn't collect a single tip all day."

Collected No Wages
"That night I was sort of tired and discouraged. And after the restaurant man 'bawled me out' I gain about something or other. I just up and quit. And I didn't collect a dime from him in wages, either."

After losing her job, she said, she went into a candy store where she spent her last ten cents for a soda. There, she said, she met Eleanor Kolek, 18, who befriended her.

"I got to talking to Eleanor and she felt sorry for me and took me to her home. Her mother and sister, Florence, have been aw-

In Print Again

Washington, June 9.—(AP)—Breaking out of his room at Gallinger hospital and touring the grounds in a white bathrobe, Representative Marion A. Zioncheck today lost his reputation as the institution's model patient.

The Washington state representative, committed to the hospital for mental observation, freed himself by kicking out two window screens. He galloped about the grounds, whooping and puffing at a long black cigar, until apprehended by guards.

DISSENSION IN STATE PENSION ADMINISTRATION

Discharge of Borrowed Ohio Expert Unravels Charges

Springfield, Ill., June 9.—(AP)—Rumblings of dissension in the state old age assistance administration were followed today by charges and denials that the office's executive department would collapse within 48 hours because of the presence of Robert Bishop of Chicago, a member of Gov. Horner's staff.

The charges were made by Henry Coughlin, Columbus, O., lent to Illinois last winter as state case work director. They were denied by Bishop, a former Chicago newspaper man, and James H. Andrews of Kewanee, pension superintendent.

Coughlin also said he had been "fired last Saturday" by Bishop, whom he said was "put into the pension office by Gov. Horner as an efficiency expert."

"I refused to condone indiscriminate approval of pension applications," Coughlin said, as he prepared to return to his post in Ohio. Andrews and Bishop said the latter had been placed in the office ten days ago at the superintendent's request to aid in speeding up applications, but said Coughlin had "nothing to do with that end of the work."

Was "Borrowed" Man
They said Coughlin came to Illinois as a "borrowed, temporary man" and that they never intended to keep him permanently. They said, however, there was another reason for his discharge, but refused to disclose it, except as an "off the record" statement.

"It's an unadvisable story," Andrews said.

Coughlin charged Andrews fired him solely on Bishop's recommendation, and that the superintendent had threatened to resign several times.

Andrews denied this as well as Coughlin's charge that Bishop was "out to get" Charles Lurch of Decatur, the department's legal adviser, and Edmund Burke, Jr., Springfield, head of the "readers" who examine applications.

Charges Fly Fast
Coughlin said Bishop was attempting to put in a system whereby 30,000 applications would be approved monthly. The governor's aid denied this, too, but

W. BROOKLYN SPUR ROUTE IS CHANGED

Supervisors Vote a New Way Despite Expenditures

Two members of the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon opposed the re-routing of the West Brooklyn spur, subject of many a heated debate, when the roll was called on an unexpected resolution presented by the road and bridge committee, providing that the original action of the board in routing the spur, one mile north of the village and then east a distance of three miles to connect with state route 70, be rescinded. A new routing, which would continue north to connect with state route 71 when completed, was suggested.

Supervisor John Archer of Compton, representing Brooklyn township, sought to discourage the action and to hold the route to the present location as provided in an action adopted by the board some years ago. The supervisor argued that his township is just finishing payment for a portion of the right of way for the spur as routed in the original resolution and added that the majority of his constituents favored the route north and east to connect with route 70. Bridges, culverts and drainage structures have also been constructed. Supervisor Archer told the board members, and added that he, as supervisor of Brooklyn township, would not vote to purchase another right of way for the spur location after his township had purchased the necessary right of way and had constructed the bridges and culverts.

The original route, he stated, would not only improve three miles of present "bad" road, but would be the most direct route from Dixon to West Brooklyn, Compton and Paw Paw.

Gehant's Farm on Road
Supervisor Louis L. Gehant of Viola township, defended the resolution to rescind the former action of the board. The location of the proposed spur, directly north of West Brooklyn would pass the Viola supervisor's farm, it was learned. He likewise argued that traffic from Dixon would be benefited by being routed over the route 71 extension, now under construction, as being a more direct route to Paw Paw and Compton. Upon a roll call vote, the resolution was adopted by a vote of 22 to 2. Supervisors Archer of Brooklyn and Henry Knetsch of Wyoming, opposing the new proposed location.

A communication was presented to the board, which previously had been submitted to Harold H. Wolfe, chairman of the county building committee by a Works Progress Administration official. The letter outlined a project which would provide employment for five persons in renovating the court house and county jail. The federal government, the letter stated, would appropriate $717 toward the project, which is to be supervised by the sheriff, and the county will be obligated not to exceed the sum of $50 for the purchase of brooms, mops and other equipment to be used by the workers. Supervisor D. H. Spencer moved that the building committee be empowered to proceed with the project and the board voted accordingly.

Accept Invitation
The members of the board unanimously accepted the invitation of Superintendent and Matron Mr. and Mrs. Willis Frye of the county home near Eldena and the county home committee to visit and conduct their annual inspection of the property Wednesday.

An application of the DeKalb-Ogle Telephone Company, seeking a permit to construct an extension to their pole line system in Willow Creek township, a distance of one-fifth mile along a state aid road, was granted by the board.

A communication informing the board members of several county officers' associations in Moline, Sept. 17 and 18 was read to the board and upon the motion of Supervisor L. D. Hemenway, was tabled.

Hamilton, O., June 9.—(AP)—Johnny Black, 45, who wrote "Dardanella," died today of a skull fracture received last Friday in a brawl over 25 cents at a cafe he operated near here.

The Meeting Will Come To Order

REM-RAND WILL IMPORT WORKERS

500 Strike-Breakers to be Sent to New York Factory

Syracuse, N. Y., June 9.—(AP)—J. E. Straub, Superintendent of the Syracuse plant of the Remington Rand Company, announced today that "500 strike-breakers will be brought in today or tomorrow to go to work" in the strike closed factory.

His announcement came shortly after Vernon M. Crofoot, president of the Remington Rand joint protective board, an employee organization, declared that "we are anxious to prevent any violence. We have already pulled men out of the picket line who were talking too much and told them to go home. If they don't go home we'll call the police."

Straub said he did not know where the 500 men were coming from, except that "they are from out of town."

Mass picketing was resumed at the Ilion plant and a police guard was increased. Crofoot said "only seven" men returned to work at the Syracuse plant. At Tonawanda strikers met to consider a company warning that the plant would be moved to Marietta, Ohio, if they did not return to work.

Knox Forces See Gaining Strength

Cleveland, June 9.—(AP)—Col. Frank Knox of Illinois was on the bustling scene of the Republican convention today, getting first hand reports from his campaign managers on their efforts to drive him to the front in the race for the presidential nomination.

Headquarters of the Chicago publisher said those reports, based on days and nights of constant sounding out of delegate sentiment, definitely were encouraging.

"The evidence is unmistakable," Edward A. Hayes, Knox campaign chairman, said, "that during the last 24 hours Landon has lost strength and Knox in turn has gained appreciably."

Nelson Youth Fell on Pitchfork: His Condition Hopeful

Carl Janssen, Jr., aged 19, of Nelson was rushed to the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital yesterday afternoon, following an unusual accident at the farm home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Janssen, about 3 o'clock.

The young man slid off a load of hay and the handle of a pitch fork, upon which he fell, entered his body. An operation was performed last evening and his condition today was reported to be very satisfactory.

SIX HELD FOR NIGHT RIDING

Prosecution of Black Legion Members in Michigan Goes On

Detroit, June 9.—(AP)—Six men accused of Black Legion night riding activities were ordered held today for trial on charges of "seizing and confining" Robert Penland, a steel worker who was abducted and "tried" by a group of masked men last Oct. 5.

Penland related at the examination of the six that he was seized by three of them and taken before a meeting at which he was accused of "disobeying orders" and not attending meetings, but he said he was not flogged.

Federick A. Guley, identified by Penland as the man who lured him into the automobile in which he was taken to the meeting, contradicted Penland's testimony on that point, however. He testified today that Penland was lashed with a blacksnake whip.

Others Held for Trial
In addition to Guley, those ordered held for trial are Thomas P. Cox and Earl Angstadt, who Penland said forced him to get into the car; Charles King, former Ecorse village councilman; Harold Lawrence, also of Ecorse, and Wilbur Robinson, suspended Detroit street railway employee.

Other developments included the detention of Mrs. Margaret O'Rourke, who says she is the wife of Dayton Dean, Black Legion executioner who is held with 12 others for trial on kidnapping and murder charges in the slaying of Charles A. Poole.

Inspector John I. Navarre said Mrs. O'Rourke would be questioned concerning Dean's activities, and then would be taken before the state grand jury investigating Black Legion terrorism here.

Rule on Railroad Retirement Laws Expected by July

Washington, June 9.—(AP)—Justice Jennings Bailey of the District of Columbia Supreme Court said today he would try to give a ruling before July 1 on the injunction suit brought by class 1 railroads and some other railway enterprises to prevent enforcement of the government's railroad retirement plan.

July is the scheduled date for first payments under the plan for pensioning all railway employees over 65.

Hearings on the injunction suit were completed today and Justice Bailey announced arguments would be heard June 16 and 17.

Just before the hearings ended, Ralph G. Budd, president of the Burlington line, testified he believed the plan would "tend to destroy loyalty among employees."

Out Of Politics

Cleveland, June 9.—(AP)—Avoiding the turmoil of hotel lobbies and conference rooms, former Vice President Charles G. Dawes smilingly parried questions today about his position on candidates and issues.

"I'm out of politics," he said. "I'm just a delegate to this convention."

"I'm not granting any interviews," he added to newsmen. "You'd better operate in more promising fields."

NINE OF CRAZY FUGITIVES ARE STILL AT LARGE

Three of Minnesota's Insane Criminals May Be in Iowa

St. Peter, Minn., June 9.—(AP)—Another member of the lunatic convict band that broke out of St. Peter state asylum Sunday night was caught today as the hunt for the maniacal ring leaders was pressed over a broad front.

The seventh of the 16 madmen who escaped was captured six miles from the asylum, at Oshawa, Minn., by three attendants summoned from the institution by a creamery store proprietor.

He is William Lannenji, alias Lammi, St. Louis county truck driver committed on a charge of stealing an automobile.

This left nine still at large. Two of those were being sought in the woods near Norwood, Minn., after they fled on foot when pursuing officers forced their car into a ditch.

Three May Be In Iowa
Officials directing the widespread hunt expressed the opinion that Lawrence De Vol, demented Barker-Karpis gangster, and two other killers had crossed the border into Iowa with a new career of crime upmost in their twisted minds.

The other six insane fugitives were sought throughout Minnesota.

Melvin Passolt, superintendent of the state bureau of criminal apprehension, theorized De Vol and his companions—Albert "Scarface" Saroko and Donald Reader—were heading for old hideouts in the Ozark mountains. The car De Vol seized when he led the break from the asylum was found abandoned yesterday near the Iowa line west of Elmore, Minn.

Told of Crime Plans
Two recaptured inmates—Tom De Largo and David Rhoades—told hospital superintendent Geo. Freeman that De Vol and his two aides planned to raid National Guard armories in various Iowa towns, steal weapons and rob banks, garages and stores.

Carloads of asylum employees, augmented by state police and National Guardsmen, continued to search the dense Minnesota river bottom brushland adjacent to the hospital where numerous sandstone caves provided hideouts.

Dr. George Freeman, superintendent of the asylum, disclosed that he was aware of a plot to escape and had planned to put three of those who broke out in solitary confinement.

Dr. Freeman said in his report to the state board of control that "it was thought best to delay the lockup" because inmates knew the superintendent was aware of escape plan rumors.

"There was nothing," the report added, "to indicate the plot was to be carried into effect immediately."

Doctor's Degree to be Conferred Upon Former Pastor Here

Rev. Howard P. Buxton, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Dixon, a member of the board of trustees of Garrett Biblical Institute at Evanston, went to that city today to attend the annual meeting of the board and the dinner to the board and faculty this evening. Tomorrow, at the commencement exercises of the institute, an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity will be conferred on Rev. A. Turley Stephenson, former pastor of the Dixon church.

PICKPOCKETS BUSY
Cleveland, June 9.—(AP)—Pickpockets preyed upon visitors to the Republican national convention in crowded hotel lobbies today.

Victims reported to police the loss of nearly $200.

Authorities have assigned special squads of plainclothesmen to protect the convention crowd.

PRELIMINARY ORGANIZATION IS COMPLETED

Delegates Manifest Little Interest in Hour Session

Cleveland, June 9.—(AP)—The Republican convention delegated its first troubles to committees today in an abbreviated, lackluster opening session at which even the Landon enthusiasts were silent.

Jollity and speed was the beginning keynote, but beneath ran a tension over the platform which made some of the backslapping leaders frown and predict a protracted argument.

Supporters of Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas were at odds themselves on questions of the gold standard, reciprocal tariff and other aspects of the New Deal. Their disputes contributed to the long grind ahead for the resolutions committee beginning in late afternoon. Guards were stationed at the doors.

Knox in Seclusion
Col. Frank Knox of Illinois—newly arrived from Springfield, O.—secluded himself to appraise the situation, before having anything to say.

Badges for him and for Senator Borah of Idaho were far outnumbered by the Landon sunflower emblem among the delegates who took the trouble to be on hand for the opening formalities.

Under the forceful if diplomatic guiding gavel of Chairman Henry P. Fletcher, the routine was dispatched in less than an hour.

Some of the delegates and many of the holders of gallery tickets did not even show up. John D. M. Hamilton, manager for Governor

SPEECH ON AIR

The keynote speech of the Republican national convention at Cleveland, to be delivered by Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon at 8 o'clock Dixon time, this evening will be broadcast over Chicago radio stations WENR, WMAQ and WGN.

Alf M. Landon of Kansas, was the center of an eager group right beneath Fletcher's nose during a large part of the proceedings. He said "all is well" and let it go at that.

Borah Not Present

Senator Borah of Idaho, who is not a delegate, remained away; but Senator Vandenberg of Michigan—himself a possibility for the nomination in event of deadlock—visited with party leaders on the platform. There were no demonstrations.

Caucuses of some state delegations later in the day were considered more important for the ultimate outcome than the opening session itself, if decisions on whom to support were to be reached. It seemed likely, however, that several of the larger delegations would keep their own counsel to the last compared with the pell-mell rush which put Herbert Hoover across in 1928 long before balloting began.

Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, for whom this is the first convention, was given an ovation when formally elected to the temporary chairmanship.

The convention recessed at 12:32 P. M. (EST) until 8 P. M., when Steiwer will deliver the keynote speech.

Opened With Song

The convention first was called upon to stand for the singing of "America," throngs in the galleries being invited to join with the 2,761 delegated spokesmen of the party, including the alternates, whose seats ranged back to the middle of the main floor.

Each delegate found on his chair a copy of the temporary convention roll, including the names of a tion roll, including the names of a score or more whose seats were contested. One of the few duties of the first meeting was to set up committees for credentials, rules and the platform.

Among the first arrivals on the platform was Ogden Mills, secretary of the treasury in the Hoover administration and long active in New York politics. It had been suggested he would represent his state on the platform committee, but Representative Taber was selected instead.

The standards of Oregon, Minnesota, Iowa, Michigan and Maine enjoyed first row places. Those seats and the great majority of others were unoccupied when the 11 o'clock convening hour arrived.

SIDELIGHTS ON ILLINOIS FOLK
AT CONVENTIONCongressman Allen is Setting Some Kind of a Record

Cleveland, June 9—(AP)—Representative Leo Allen, Galena, Ill., Republican, doesn't know what kind of a record for roommates he is establishing but thinks, whatever it is, that it will stand until the next national convention anyway.

In Washington the youthful congressman rooms with Representative Joseph Martin (R-Mass.) who is convention floor manager for Governor Landon. In Cleveland Allen is rooming with E. Weaver Campbell, one of Senator Weaver's campaign managers. And Allen is doing all he can to advance the candidacy of Col. Frank Knox for the presidency.

"I hate the thought of going back to Washington," she said. Large for her age, she said she had tired of the existence of a small town. Her only excitement, she said, had been a movie once a week.

"Those movies taught me about the city. And friends told me gorgeous stories about Chicago life."

She said she had asked her new friend, Eleanor, to go to her home in Washington with her and try to persuade her parents to permit her to return to Chicago.

The search for Dorothy took its most spectacular turn Sunday morning when 500 men, women and children, including the Washington post of the American Legion, conducted a hunting party, combing the woods and fields and searching all abandoned buildings for miles around her home.

Earlier sheriff's deputies had gone to Macinaw Delta, a resort near her home, on an erroneous tip that a girl's body had been found there.

REJOINS FAMILY
Washington, Ill., June 9—(AP)—Dorothy Blumenshine, 14, who was found in Chicago after searches by posess and bloodhounds failed to solve her nine-day disappearance, was reunited with her family here today.

She arrived with an escort of several persons shortly after 7 A. M. (Central standard time), neighbors reported. Shortly afterwards the Blumenshine family, including Dorothy, her parents and her three brothers, drove away in the family car. At noon, neighbors said, they had not returned.

Sheriff Ralph Goar, who led the hunt for Dorothy, said he had not been notified by Dr. Blumenshine, a veterinarian, of the girl's reappearance.

Clues to Rockford Girl
Rockford, Ill., June 9—(AP)—Arlene Sadevater, 15, high school student who disappeared Friday following her failure to pass a class examination, was believed today to be in Benton Harbor, Mich.

The first clue to the girl's whereabouts was obtained by postal authorities who disclosed they had intercepted a card this morning addressed to Mrs. Fred Sadevater, grandmother of the girl, with whom she made her home.

The card was postmarked: Benton Harbor, Mich., 6:30 P. M. Saturday. It read: "Dear Mom; am all right and am not coming home." It was signed "Babe," Arlene's nickname.

Sheriff Paul Johnson notified Benton Harbor police and asked that they conduct a search for the young student.

Former Senator Otis F. Glenn of Murphysboro, who is to place Col. Knox in nomination, says: "The spirit of this convention is the best of any I have attended. There is keen rivalry but no bitterness. When the nominee is selected and the platform written the Republican party will be in an enviable position."

Clarence Buck of Monmouth, GOP nominee for state treasurer, has his own ideas about the convention.

"This convention is seeking a common, ordinary man with good common sense as the Republican presidential candidate," he said. "It isn't looking for any superman. The nation has had enough of supermen and the delegation knows that a common fellow with good judgment will fill the bill."

Probate Judge Benjamin Duboise of Sangamon county has a plank he is seeking to have incorporated in the platform. It provides that once the party is returned to power, has determined on a relief set-up it shall not be changed.

"Constant changing in the system of relief administration has caused many hardships and in Springfield caused one death," the judge said.

fully good to me. I've been living at his house ever since."

She said "Florence arranged to get me a job of housekeeping for a lady on the west side." Dorothy said she wanted to go to work "terribly bad."

SOCIALISTS, COMMUNISTS BATTLING IN FRANCE

Paris, June 9—(AP)—Socialist and Communist strikers fought inside a munitions factory at Valenciennes today as fresh walkouts broke over France.

A dozen Socialists were reported injured in a clash after Communists refused to accept a labor agreement submitted by operators of the plant. Thirty more Socialists escaped over a wall.

Reports from Denan, near Valenciennes, said a striking Communist miner forced a foreman to carry red flags during street demonstrations.

The new strikes were called by workers anxious to gain labor concessions similar to those won by 1,000,000 employees who participated in the 14-day "folded arms" refusal to work.

The cabinet approved the first of the labor bills growing out of the advent of Leon Blum's Socialist government. They were dispatched to parliament for quick consideration by a special committee.

They provided for a 40-hour week, vacations with pay, collective labor contracts, and relief from the pension cuts of former Premier Pierre Laval's decree laws for government jobholders and veterans.

MORE OF THE SAME

Added to the ridiculous expenditures made or proposed on the theory that money thrown into the air will come down are some cited by Senator Metcalf of Rhode Island: $14,962 to pave the bed of Wigwam brook in New Jersey; $19,000 for a gymnasium in a New Mexico village with 134 inhabitants; $62,000 for repairs to a community center in Vermont, but the repairs could not be made because the community center had not yet been built.

HONEST ELECTION LAWS

Legislation looking toward more honest elections in Illinois has been written after much controversy among members of the general assembly.

We now have the law, but honest enforcement of it is the next thing. Not all abuses have been cured by this legislation. Once upon a time election frauds consisted principally of repeating voters who were moved from one precinct to another. The new legislation will preclude such abuses, but it is not a cure for the new-fangled ways of carrying elections in Chicago.

We gather from reports concerning Chicago elections that manipulating of humanity has become too cumbersome, and that modern methods consist of manipulating the marks on the poll books. It involves fewer persons and less ponderous machinery and goes directly to the point. Buying votes and lining up repeaters and grave-yard voters is all unavailing if the judges and clerks don't write them down that way.

In light of these things we have taken a step in the right direction, but Chicago elections still will be under suspicion. Most hopeful of the signs is that leading machine politicians are reported to have said that this law will deprive them of 200,000 votes in the next election.

We hope it does.

THE WEEK ABROAD

After three weeks of quietness in foreign countries important events are at hand. Strikes in France and a peculiar threat of hostilities in China are furnishing food for thought.

France's socialist government is striving to restore order by ending a communist strike. Leon Blum, the new premier, has been trapped by the consequences of his own philosophy. It should be remembered that a socialist is only an unhurried communist, and Blum is a socialist with Red followers who demand that he should move quickly. Strikes which paralyzed business and even threatened a food shortage in larger cities are an immediate and pressing problem of the new regime, but in the end the monetary problem is likely to prove even more serious. Capital has been scurrying from Paris and the franc, even when bolstered as far as practicable by the British stabilization fund, has become wobbly.

In regard to the trouble in China we are reminded of the deliberate and ponderous movements of the mills of the gods, which grind slowly but exceedingly small. We who sit on the other side of the world and have little conception of the working of the oriental mind can only guess at the outcome, but the trend is most obvious. Japan is about to be given an opportunity to civilize China in much the same way Italy civilized Ethiopia. Having two governments, China has found herself in an unenviable position. The northern government has fallen under the domination of Japan because it was necessary either to submit or fight, and there was nothing with which to wage war.

The Canton government, operating in the south and farther removed from the peril, has been demanding that the northern government make the world safe for democracy. The northern government, remembering the Shanghai massacre and the futility of opposing the Japanese military machine, has been reluctant to move troops. Now the Cantonese are marching their men northward for a smell of gunpowder and this will give the Japanese an opportunity to do what they wish. Peaceful penetration, even when backed by troops, is not so much to the Japanese taste as quick military action. Unless obstacles arise we may expect the Japanese to restore order in a hurry, after which they will forget to move out.

The Japanese themselves, however, are in a puzzling situation. It is conceded by all the experts that sooner or later the Japs will have to fight Russia. In this case Japan will have the Chinese to consider, either as pro-Japan allies, or as pro-Russian enemies. If the Russo-Japanese struggle can be postponed until the Chinese have been turned into Jap allies, the Russians appear doomed. This is a factor which counsels moderation in dealing with China and every diplomat in the world must be watching this drama with intense interest.

IL DUCE'S "CIVILIZATION"

It will be recalled that Il Duce's Fascist legions descended on primitive Ethiopia to free its people from bondage, that civilization and the "more abundant life," so to speak, might be had.

Now, however, the rest of the story is out. It comes through the influential Italian newspaper Il Messaggero. The paper demands that sharp restrictions be set up in Ethiopia so that the natives of the conquered territory will be under the complete mastery of the Italians.

It is urged, for instance, that many white families be placed at strategic positions to maintain a careful supervision over the natives. In a word, it appears, that the Ethiopians have been swept from the frying pan into the fire. They've exchanged one form of slavery for another, at best.

The world can hardly label that "civilized freedom."

Bride's Reception

On Sunday afternoon the bride's parents entertained at their home at a reception for 40 guests, the house being beautifully decorated with garden flowers. A pink and white color scheme was used.

A four course dinner was served at 5 o'clock, and while the guests found their places, Alice Ruth Peterson, sister of the groom, played Lohengrin's Wedding March. The bride's party was seated at a special table where covers were laid for 12, with a centerpiece of pink and white roses and white tapers. The other guests were seated at smaller tables adorned with pink roses.

During the dinner, toasts were given by Rev. Freeman and Mrs. Henry Thullen, and a duet, "I Love You Truly," was sung by Miss Hil-dur Peterson and Harry Peterson, sister and brother of the groom. The accompaniment for the song was played by Alice Peterson.

Leave for Peoria

The bride and groom later left for Peoria where the groom is employed and where they will make their home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Peterson are graduates of the Princeton high school with the class of 1930. For the past four years she has been employed at Lanham's store.

Previous to her marriage the bride was entertained at a number of delightful parties, the last one before the ceremony having taken place on Thursday evening of the past week, when four sisters of the groom, the Misses Hildur, Helen and Lillian Peterson and Mrs. Conrad Johnson, entertained at the Peterson home at a miscellaneous shower. Garden flowers were used in the appointments. Various entertaining games were played during the evening, and prizes were won by Mrs. Earl Kiskick and Mrs. Frank Hassel. A two course supper was served later.

Out of town guests who attended the reception on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. August Anderson of Kewanee, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Colliflower of Sandwich.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

As Duncy landed on his knees, upon the ground, he shouted, "Please chase that wild donkey out of here. He's not a friendly sort."

"I was as kind as I could be, yet you saw what he did to me. You tots may think it's funny, but I do not like such sport."

"As long as you're not injured, son," said Copsy, "no real harm is done. However, I've a good idea that your hunch is right."

"The donkey is too wild for us. If we climb on he'll start a fuss." Another Tiny added, "I, too, think that Duncy's right."

"I guess the best thing we can do is turn his loose. Forget him, too." Then Windy clapped his hands, which made the wild beast raise an ear.

Another moment quickly passed, and then the donkey ran real fast. He disappeared, and Duncy said, "I'm glad he's out of here."

"The Tiny girls had walked away, and shortly Goldy stopped to say, 'Why, look! I see a tool chest. It's the magic man's, I'll bet."

"If we can find a bit more wood, we'll build a beast that will be good." The magic man came up and said, "Some wood I'll gladly get."

"You two girls run around my shack and do your building in the back. Then we'll surprise the others. Just what do you wish to make?"

"A husky dog," cried Goldy. "Gee, I'll be as handy as can be. We'll build a cart for him to pull, and then a ride we'll take."

"Okay," the old man said, "and I will do my very best to try and help you with the little task." The work soon was begun.

As it progressed, fair Dotty said, "Say, we have made a dandy head. We're getting on just fine, and with your help, it's heaps of fun."

(Duncy decides to make something by himself in the next story.)

DAILY HEALTH

MEASURING VITAMIN NEEDS.

For years facts have been accumulating about vitamins and their essential role in human physiology. But precise knowledge on the quantitative needs of the body for the various vitamins has been lacking.

These standards may be established soon. The manner in which this is being attained is rather ingenious. For illustration, take vitamin C. This vitamin, commonly present in citrus fruits, is essential to the body's welfare, its lack causing scurvy.

The marked want of vitamin C can be recognized easily by the symptoms which it produces. But the moderate deficiency of vitamin C is not easily recognized. It has been found that the body does not store vitamin C to any appreciable extent. Consequently, if more vitamin C is ingested than the body requires, the vitamin is excreted through the urine.

To establish, therefore, whether an individual is consuming enough vitamin C in his diet, or whether he suffers a lack thereof, we can give him a large dose of vitamin C (in the form of ascorbic acid) and then measure the amount which he subsequently excretes in his urine. If the individual has an adequate supply of vitamin C, a large portion of the ascorbic acid given him will be excreted. On the other hand, if he has need of the vitamin, most of what is administered to him will be retained in his body.

Studies conducted in this manner on hospitalized individuals indicate that many consume less than the desirable amounts of vitamin C. Also, although it has been widely urged that all bottle-fed babies should be given orange juice daily, many babies receive too little.

Quantitative tests have also been developed for vitamins A and D, and a urinary excretion test has been developed for vitamin B1.

Before long then, it may be possible to counsel the specific amounts of each vitamin essential to good health.

Tomorrow—The Need for Iodine.

BRUINS SHOW SOME OF FORM OF LAST YEAR

Grimm's Men Have Won 5 Straight to Keep in Race

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It was within the confines of their own Wrigley Field that the Chicago Cubs won the 1935 National League pennant, putting together the greater part of their famous 21-game winning streak. Now, in another home stand, the men of Charles Grimm have begun a brand new winning streak to join in with the Cardinals and Giants in the hot 1936 race.

The Cubs have won five straight on their home lot now and by trouncing the Phillies 3 to 0 yesterday as Larry French showed a return to last year's pitching form they placed themselves only a game and a half behind the second-place New York Club and five behind the league-leading Cards. Even better, from the Chicago viewpoint, the Cubs and the Giants are all square in the losing column although the Giants have won three more.

Pirates Hang On
The Cubs couldn't shake off the pesky Pittsburgh Pirates, the club they ousted from third place by a single percentage point a few days ago. While French was blanking the Phils with eight hits and whiffing six to chalk up his first complete game in his last seven starts, Cy Blanton was performing a similar feat to give the Pirates a 2 to 1 decision over the Dodgers.

Blanton, last year's freshman ace, hadn't been able to go the route previously this season. He granted only seven blows in a duel with Dutch Brandt but it took an error by Lonnie Frey with the bases loaded in the ninth to give the Bucs their winning run.

Reds Drub Giants
The Giants, meanwhile, took a 7 to 3 drubbing from the Cincinnati Reds, who blasted Harry Gumbert out with three runs in the fifth, then battered Frank Gabler for a four-run winning rally in the eighth as Paul Derringer hurled steady ball. The Cards and Bees had an off day.

In the American League the Yankees stretched their lead to three games with a 12 to 3 rout of the Browns while their nearest rivals, the Red Sox and Tigers, mauled each other in a double header. The Sox provided excellent support for Lefty Grove in the opener to win 6 to 3. They failed to provide the same backing for Fritz Ostermuller, however, and Detroit pounded out a six-run sixth inning and a 12 to 7 triumph.

The day's only other game saw the Athletics beat out the White Sox, 5 to 4, in the tenth when Pinky Higgins singled home the winning run after intentional passes by Johnny Whitehead had filled the bags.

Harnett and Cochrane Lead as Star Catchers

Boston, June 9.—(AP)—A ton of votes provided by western cities in the nation-wide balloting for the make-up of the National and American League all-star teams for the game on July 7 today moved Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Tigers into the lead for the American League catching berth.

Until these western votes were reported, Rick Ferrell of the Red Sox and Bill Dickey of the Yankees were running neck and neck. The latest count, however, revealed that Cochrane had piled up more votes than any other major league player, with the exception of Bob (Lefty) Grove, the Red Sox' south-paw ace.

In the National League, Gabby Harnett of the Cubs is far out front among that circuit's catchers. He has polled the largest vote of any National League player, with Carl Hubbell, the Giants' pitching star, in second place. Van Mungo of the Dodgers is pressing Hubbell and Jerome (Dizzy) Dean of the Cardinals is now the senior circuit's third ranking hurler.

Some of the earlier estimates had to be revised when yesterday's ballots reached Ralph Clifford, the official tabulator, Stuart Martin, the Cards' rookie second baseman, is threatening Bill Herman of the Cubs, generally accepted as tops among the National League's second base corps, and in the other circuit, Tony Lazzeri, the New York veteran key stoner, is pressing Charles Gehring of the Tigers. Another upset came when the latest mid-western returns moved Jimmy Dykes, the Chi Sox manager, into the third base post at the expense of Frank (Pinky) Higgins of the Athletics.

MICHIGAN GOLF STAR ATTRACTS SOME ATTENTION

New York, June 8.—(AP)—They call him "Trolley Wire" Kocsis because he always hits the ball right down the middle. He is from the University of Michigan by way of Royal Oak, and he recently led all the amateurs in golf's annual nervous breakdown at Baltusrol.

Now he is preparing for the National Intercollegiate championship, which will be played in Chicago starting June 22, and nothing short of an "E" in chemistry can keep him from being an outstanding competitor.

Kocsis has been known for years mainly because he beat Tommy Armour in a playoff for the Michigan open title when he was 17 years old but at Baltusrol the boys were talking about his swing and forgetting his record.

He was fourth place going into the last round of the open with a total of 216, but he slipped on the last round to 77 and finished with a total of 293. Nevertheless, this gave him a two-shot lead over Johnny Goodman of Omaha, the next amateur in line.

Kocsis is a very dour young man with a ski-jump nose and thinning hair. He has Hagen's height and Sarazen's width and why Harry Kipke hasn't had him playing guard and leading Michigan's interference is one of the many mysteries in the Big Ten today.

National Open Champion Almost Out of Shawnee

Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., June 9.—(AP)—Tony Manero, obviously tired from his blistering last-round dash to victory in the American Open golf tournament last week end, was almost out of the running today as a field of 53 top-flight performers swung into the final 36 holes of the Shawnee Open.

Manero recovered much of his driving power in making 18 holes in 74 yesterday, two over par, but he still was shaky on the greens as he lagged 12 strokes behind Orville White, brilliant Chicago professional.

The national champion posted a 78-74-152, as against White's 71-68-140. White held a two-stroke advantage over Clarence Doser, also from Chicago, with Byron Nelson of Ridgewood, N. J. close by in third with 143.

Two others, Ralph Guldhall of St. Louis, at 144, and Felix Serafin of Scranton, 145, were within striking distance of the lead.

LONDON SPENDS DAY AT WORK IN CAPITOL OFFICE

Topeka, Kas., June 9.—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon arrived at the capitol about 9 A. M. today after a brisk half-mile walk from the executive mansion and indicated he would spend the morning in office work rather than listen to the opening of the Republican national convention.

His private telephone switchboard was readily available, however, for swift communication with the leaders at Cleveland in the drive to nominate Landon for the presidency.

Willard Mayberry, the governor's secretary, said the press of visitors had forced cancellation of most fixed appointments but that the governor was seeing many casual callers.

Commencement Address
In a commencement address at the University of Kansas last night, Landon struck specifically at monopolies—an attack which also has been made by another contender for the Republican nomination, Senator Borah of Idaho.

"This road (ahead)," he said in pointing a path for the graduates, "as I have said before and as I shall continue to say, because I firmly believe it, avoids the tyranny of monopoly and economic dictatorship on one hand and the bondage of bureaucracy on the other."

Referring to the "onward march of democracy," Landon said "some of the other countries of the world are heading in opposite directions from democracy and freedom." He cautioned his listeners "we shall have to decide whether this retreat of civilization shall spread to our own country. . . ."

HARDING BEATS SMITH FOR GOP COMMITTEEMAN

Mrs. Bertha Baur Wins Reelection and State Committeewoman

Cleveland, June 9.—(AP)—George F. Harding of Chicago is the new Republican national committeeman from Illinois.

He defeated the incumbent, Frank L. Smith of Dwight, 33 to 22, at last night's caucus of the state's delegates to the Republican convention.

The incumbent national committeewoman, Mrs. Bertha Baur of Chicago, retained her post, defeating Mrs. Helen Griffin of Grant Park, 38 to 18. An active campaign to defeat Mrs. Baur had been waged by Mrs. George R. Dean of Chicago, who withdrew as a candidate in favor of Mrs. Griffin just before the caucus convened.

One upset in the calculations of the Harding forces occurred when Albert Lasker, Chicago advertising man and war-time chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board, was defeated by Homer Hall of Bloomington for membership on the convention's resolutions committee.

Lasker and Chauncey McCormick, Chicago, had been nominated for the post when Frank L. Reid of Aurora, a former congressman, took the floor and said: "Chicago Convention"

"Up to now this has been a Chicago convention. If you think you can win in November with Cook county alone you are nuts."

He then nominated Hall, also a former congressman, who received 35 votes to Lasker's 18 and McCormick's one.

Smith's defeat was regarded by observers as a continuation of the old factional differences in Illinois Republican circles which for years centered about the late Governor Len Small of Kankakee.

Chairman of Small's commerce commission, Smith was a candidate for national committeeman four years ago against Louis L. Emmerson, Mt. Vernon, who, in 1928, defeated Small for renomination as governor. Delegates were unable to elect so the choice went to the party's state committee which chose Smith. Last April Small, again a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, was defeated by C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago, whose political mentor is Harding.

Smith Makes Charges
Brooks was active in Harding's behalf among the delegates, causing Smith to charge after his defeat that he had lost because of promises of patronage made by the gubernatorial nominee.

The patronage charges appeared to concern the delegates little as they discussed reports of a possible bolt from the party's state ticket by Smith and his followers. They quickly couched his name with that of William Hale Thompson, former Chicago mayor and an old ally of Small's. Thompson has indicated he intends running as an independent candidate for governor, having said he was going "to nail Harding's hide to the wall."

Smith refused to discuss these reports. He said, however, in a short talk following his defeat—that his political experience had taught him the man who keeps his promises fails in politics while success goes to those who break promises.

"Big Eight" for Harding
None of the usual downstate versus Chicago factors appeared to play a part in Harding's selection as he, a Chicagoan, received more votes from downstate than Smith.

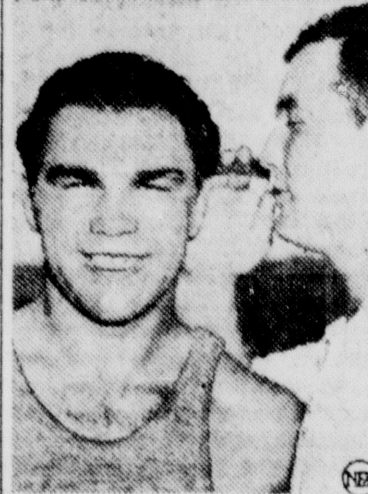

The "big eight" in the delegation—the delegates-at-large—voted 7 to 1 for Harding. Ed Hayes of Decatur, campaign manager for Col. Frank Knox, was the lone Smith supporter in the group. Harding getting the votes of former Vice President Charles Dawes, former Senator Otis F. Glenn, Omer Custer of Galesburg and the rest.

Custer was elected both caucus chairman and chairman of the delegation by acclamation. Roscoe C. Simmons, Chicago negro, was named the delegation's representative on the committee on resolutions after Oscar de Priest, Chicago, negro former congressman, had urged his selection.

The roll call on the national committeeman was as follows:

For Harding, 33.
Charles G. Dawes, I. F. Pearson, A. D. Lasker, George C. Dixon, Oscar F. Nelson, E. C. Hardin, Otis F. Glenn, H. C. Horneman, Oscar de Priest, L. B. Bratton, Omer N. Custer, C. E. Robinson, R. C. She was released under $3,000 bail.

MRS. SIMMS WILL SECOND LONDON GOP NOMINATION

Cleveland, June 9.—(AP)—John M. Hamilton, campaign manager for Alf M. Landon, today named four men and two women who will make seconding speeches after the Kansas governor has been nominated for the Republican presidential candidacy.

Hamilton said these would second the nomination: Gaspar G. Bacon of Massachusetts; Mrs. Corinne R. Also, of Connecticut; Charles J. Moynihan, of Colorado; Henry Depping, of Missouri; Mrs. Ruth McCormick Simms, of New Mexico, and Perry W. Howard, Negro, of Mississippi.

Mrs. Simms is a daughter of the late Mark Hanna, Republican leader.

Hamilton, who will make the nominating address, said there had been "no discussions of any plans for Governor Landon to come to Cleveland."

Still declining to make an exact prediction of the Landon strength, Hamilton said the first ballot "may not represent all of our strength."

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GAIL EVERETT, ambitious to become a designer, comes to New York and—due to a stroke of luck—is hired by MADAME LIZETTE, proprietor of an exclusive shop. Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work for.

DEREK HARGREAVES, young artist, is interested in Gail and offers her friendly advice. Frequently she sees DICK SEARLES, whose sister, ROSEMARY, was her roommate at school. Meanwhile, in Arizona, MARK CHAPMAN, long a wanderer, returns to find his old home in the hands of the Traversa Mining Co. Mark suspects the deal is crooked. He does not know the whereabouts of his niece, Gail, the rightful owner of the property. REX HALL, Madame Lizette's son, is representing the Traversa company.

Mark tells his friend, old JED BOSKUP, what he knows about the Traversa company and writes a letter to GILES HARDING, New York lawyer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII
"HELLO, old thing!" Rosemary

Searles exclaimed as she rushed toward Gail, coming out of the employees' entrance of Madame Lizette's shop at 5 o'clock. "I'm frightfully sorry I got you into such a jam!"

"Oh, don't worry about that."

"Well, that woman has no right to talk to you like that. You're no slave. I think it's horrible that you have to work for such a creature, and before that I thought you were lucky! But, come on—hop in the car. I'll take you to your clubhouse."

"You don't need to do that, Rosemary."

"I know, but I'm staying in town with the Langs for a few days—you know Betts is getting married—so I can't invite you to dinner. Some friends of Betts are giving her a dinner tonight. How about meeting me for lunch tomorrow?"

"I'd love to, though I only have an hour."

"Well, we can make it in an hour all right. And say, Gail, I wish you could let Madame Lizette know that I was going to order a dress for Betts' wedding this afternoon but now she's lost that order and a lot more because I'll never recommend her to any of my friends."

"I can't say I'm sorry."

"Have you seen any of the girls since you came to New York?"

"Only Lucille!"

"Lucille? Where did you meet her?" asked Rosemary eagerly.

"At Mrs. Morton's."

"Oh, the Mrs. Morton's who's so interested in art?"

"Yes, Derek Hargreaves introduced us."

"Oh, an old friend, I suppose. The car stopped. 'Is this where you live?' queried Rosemary."

"Yes, it's not a bad place in—" side. You must come and see me sometime. Thanks ever so much for the lift."

"That's nothing! Be seeing you tomorrow at noon." With a goodbye wave Rosemary was on her way again.

GAIL watched her go. Why hadn't she made it clear that Derek had no connection with the carefree days when her father was alive?

"Well, well, if it isn't Gail, looking so chipper I guess Madame must still be at home!" Natalie Preston slipped her arm through Gail's.

"Hello, Natalie! We're dining together tonight, aren't we?"

"Oh, that will be nice. I feel quite let down today."

"Didn't you have a good time with your cousin?"

"Did I? I should say not! After rushing down thinking she had only a few minutes to spare I found she'd made a mistake about the time her train started and had to sit and listen to all the news about her babies, the horses, cows, dogs and chickens! You may thank your stars you haven't a soul who has any strings on you. Then I came home and found that you were gone! But I suppose your boy friend thought you should spend another day at Heart's Delight!"

"Sorry you had such rotten luck. I wasn't down on the Island."

"No!" questioned Natalie incredulously, remembering that there had been no light in Gail's room as she walked down the corridor about 11.

"Of course not! A friend called and took me to a reception at Mrs. Morton's."

"Mrs. Morton of Park avenue, the patron saint of all young artists?"

"Yes." Quickly Gail told of her first meeting with the older woman. Then she ended with, "She asked Derek Hargreaves to bring me along."

"That rising young portrait painter?"

Gail nodded.

"So you know him too!" exclaimed Natalie.

"Yes, he and the Searles' are my only friends in New York. Of course the Searles' are down on Long Island for part of the summer. I'm lunching with Rosemary tomorrow. Would you like to join us?"

"You mean that, Gail?"

"Why, yes. I'm sure Rosemary would be glad to meet you."

THEY walked toward a French restaurant which Natalie had selected, for Gail was not yet acquainted with any of the smart little places in their vicinity. She was amused at Natalie's eagerness to learn all about Mrs. Morton's reception, Derek's work, and when she was to see him again.

Their talk drifted to other topics, and in the course of the conversation Natalie mentioned some stocks she'd just bought. "One of my friends who has quite a fine position with a broker told me the other day I'd better get rid of any Traversa stuff I might have, as there are rumors Mr. Traversa is not finding it so easy."

"You mean the Mining company—Lucille's father?"

"Yes," answered Natalie. "Of course I don't buy mining stocks, so I've nothing to dispose of, but one thing I can tell you—every time Arlene has given me a tip like that she's been right."

"But I thought the Traversa family were so rich!" exclaimed Gail.

"Oh, right now they still have plenty, but you should see what a rumor on Wall Street can do to any fortune, especially if it's the least bit shaky."

When Gail said good night to Natalie, her thoughts were still with Lucille. What would she do if anything happened to her father's fortune?

DEREK HARGREAVES glanced at his wrist watch. It was five minutes to five. He hung his palette on the wall of his studio, stuck his brushes into a jar, and pulled off his smock.

He hadn't realized that this was Wednesday—the last day the Ferrara Gallery would be open in the evening. He was smiling when he reached the avenue. Half a block more and he'd surely meet her. Suddenly round the corner she came!

"Gail!" he cried, as, with outstretched hands, he welcomed her. "I was afraid I'd miss you, Sweet, and we must see the pictures tonight or Mrs. Morton will never forgive us. And we're going to dinner first. Yes—right away?"

He added, as a questioning look came into her eyes.

"Oh, but I feel so grubby. I must go home and get cleaned up."

"Well, come on back to my studio. It's quite near. And I can show you Lucille's portrait."

"You've started it already?"

"Yes, Lucille's given me three sittings. Quite an amusing girl, isn't she?"

They entered the studio and closed the door behind them. Swiftly Derek drew her to his heart. "Darling," he whispered, "tell me you love me!"

CITY OF DENVER STREAMLINERS START JUNE 18

Latest Thing in Transportation on N. W. Union Pacific

The new streamliners, the "City of Denver" which will in fact be the fastest long-distance passenger train in the world, will go into daily service on June 18 over the Chicago & NorthWestern and Union Pacific lines between Chicago and Denver, Colorado. It was announced today by Fred W. Sargent, president of the NorthWestern and Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific.

Covering the 1048 miles in 16 hours flat at an average speed of 65.5 miles per hour, the 12 car trains will leave Chicago daily westbound at 6:20 P. M. Central Standard time, arriving Denver at 9:30 A. M. the next morning and will leave Denver at 4:20 P. M. daily arriving Chicago at 9:20 the following morning.

Before departing for a series of test-runs, breaking in trials and exhibitions, one of the "City of Denver" trains will be on exhibition at the Chicago passenger station of the Chicago & NorthWestern railway at Madison and Canal streets from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. Chicago Eastern Standard time Saturday, Sunday and Monday, June 6, 7 and 8.

Latest Development.

The "City of Denver" trains represent the latest development in streamlined construction and in corporate many features which will be exclusive with the NorthWestern and Union Pacific. These trains will be the only streamline trains operated between Chicago and Denver which will have Pullman sleeping car service. Sleeping accommodations for 82 passengers will be available. There will be four Pullman sleeping cars on each train, these including individual and double bedrooms as well as drawing rooms, compartments and sections. The two coach lounges will have seating capacity for 100 passengers, giving the train a total capacity, all subject to advance reservations, for 182 passengers.

In addition, each train will include two cocktail lounges, a diner lounge and an observation lounge car. Two baggage, a mail car, and two power cars make up the balance of the train. In all the 12 car trains are 865 feet in length.

The interior of every car is five inches wider than any previous cars of conventional steam trains or any streamline train heretofore constructed by any railroad. The interior height is the same as conventional standard cars. All berths, both upper and lower, are wider than standard and all seats in the coaches are wider than standard.

Two Monster Engines.

The power plant of the train includes two 1200 horsepower diesel engines each directly connected to a generator providing electricity for the eight traction motors (four on each power car). The tandem-arranged power plants, each housed in its own car, are so constructed that they may be operated individually or jointly and each capable of individually pulling the train.

While the schedule requires operation of the trains at speeds of from 85 to 100 miles per hour between stops, the "City of Denver" power plants are capable of safe speeds well in excess of 110 miles per hour. Complete insulation of the sidewalls, tops and bottoms of the cars insures the practical exclusion of all train noises. Wide double shatterproof plate glass windows give unusual vision, the entire observation lounge being in effect a large solarium.

An intercommunicating telephone system, developed especially for the NorthWestern-Union Pacific streamliners affords contact between the crews and the engineers. All-wave radio sets in each of the coach lounges as well as in the diner lounge provide entertainment and news features for the passenger guests.

Windows in Every Berth.

In the Pullman sleeping cars every berth has outside windows, even an exclusive NorthWestern-Union Pacific streamline feature. While passengers of the entire train will have access to the dining car the coach lounge passengers also will have available low cost meal service prepared in and served from the same kitchen which supplies the meals for the regular dining car. In these coaches meals may be served to passengers, if desired, at their seats on tables which fold up and recess into the backs of seats when not in use.

Still another NorthWestern-Union Pacific feature will be the registered nurse-stewardesses who will be on duty in the "City of Denver." These young women who will look after the comfort of passengers in the coaches as well as in the sleeping cars and in the several lounges, are all experienced, highly-trained nurses. The trio who will serve the "City of Denver" streamliners are Miss Gertrude Jones, graduate of St. Luke's hospital; Miss Elizabeth Sbars, graduate of General hospital; and Miss Mary Ann Heusen, graduate of St. Joseph hospital, all of Denver, Colorado.

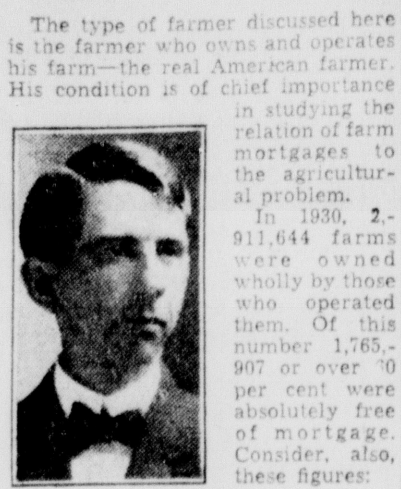

The inauguration of the two "City of Denver" trains will give

More of the Farm Myth

By GUS W. DYER

Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

The type of farmer discussed here is the farmer who owns and operates his farm—the real American farmer. His condition is of chief importance in studying the relation of farm mortgages to the agricultural problem.

In 1930, 2,911,644 farms were owned wholly by those who operated them. Of this number 1,765,907 or over 60 per cent were absolutely free of mortgage. Consider, also, these figures:

Total amount of mortgage indebtedness... $ 4,080,366,000
Total value of the farms mortgaged... 10,815,736,000
Total value of all farms operated by owners... 21,128,466,000
Total value of farms carrying no mortgage... 10,815,736,000

It will be seen that mortgaged indebtedness is less than 40 per cent of the value of the land mortgaged, and less than 20 per cent of the value of all farms operated by owners. Farm mortgage indebtedness in the Southern States is less than 16 per cent of the value of all farms operated by owners.

Then consider that the total value of all farms operated by owners was $9,129,328,000 in 1900 and increased to $21,128,466,000 in 1930. This increase was nearly three times the amount of the total farm mortgage indebtedness as will be seen by comparison of the figures in the table at the beginning of this article.

Have in mind also that this increase in farm mortgage indebtedness does not picture a depressed condition in agriculture but is on the other hand the result of unusual prosperity. Abnormally high prices for farm products prevailed.

Take also the decade from 1910 to 1920, conceded by all to be a period of great agricultural prosperity. The total farm mortgage indebtedness increased from $1,720,173,000 in 1910 to $4,080,366,000 in 1930. This tremendous increase was not due to any disparity between farm income and prices which the farmer had to pay but was due on the other hand to the desire of the farmer to get rich quick through land speculation. When the goose is hanging high the land speculator joy rider hits the high spots with the throttle wide open. Contrary to the prevailing idea in rural America the get-rich-quick fever is not confined exclusively to the vicinity surrounding the corner of Broad and Wall in New York City.

During this period farmers all over the country sold their farms at two or three times their original purchase price and bought larger farms and assumed larger mortgages. Even as the silk-hatted gambler in Wall Street.

Although farmers all over the country joined in this speculative orgy those in New England, the East, the South, and the Middle West were comparatively conservative. It was the farmers of the progressive states of the West who became the real plungers. The ceiling was the limit! Over one half of the increase in mortgage indebtedness for this period was added by nine out of the 48 states. It may surprise the stock gambler to find that these states are the ones whose representatives in Washington are most critical of that "ole devil" Wall Street—Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa, California, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming and Idaho. The farm mortgage indebtedness figures for four of these pictures about what happened in all:

	1910	1920
Minnesota	$72,866,000	$254,475,000
Nebraska	$2,273,000	108,507,000
Wisconsin	146,850,000	354,374,000
Iowa	204,243,000	489,817,000

The increase in farm mortgage indebtedness of Iowa for this period was greater than that of the six New England States, plus that of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Florida and West Virginia combined. Yet the mortgage indebtedness of Iowa is only fifty per cent of the value of the land mortgaged. The mortgage increase in the little progressive State of Nebraska between 1910 and 1930 was greater than that of the six New England States plus that of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Most farm mortgages are constructive and signify progress. To interpret a mortgage as signifying distress is stupid; the mortgage, when not abused, is a great instrument of industrial progress.

The fact that farmers in certain states have engaged in wild land speculation and have lost, is no sort of justification for special governmental aid. For men, under such conditions, to appeal to the government to assess the millions of consumers and thus compensate them for their losses, is to confess that they are incapable of taking the dose they cooked up for themselves. Americans in the past have proved that they can take it!
